

“This is my Son,
whom I love; with
him I am well
pleased.”
Matt. 3:17

KEY THEME:

To understand that God sent the
promised savior from heaven –
His own Son.

THIS WEEK AT HOME:

- Read Psalm 3:1-17
- Jesus didn't need to be baptized, but he did it to 'fulfill all righteousness.' So that he, being fully human could die a substitutionary death.
- The voice that spoke was God the Father, and the dove that came down on Jesus was the Holy Spirit.
- This was an amazing scene of Heaven opening up and the Trinitarian God being present among his people!.

“This is my Son,
whom I love; with
him I am well
pleased.”
Matt. 3:17

KEY THEME:

To understand that God sent the
promised savior from heaven –
His own Son.

THIS WEEK AT HOME:

- Read Psalm 3:1-17
- Jesus didn't need to be baptized, but he did it to 'fulfill all righteousness.' So that he, being fully human could die a substitutionary death.
- The voice that spoke was God the Father, and the dove that came down on Jesus was the Holy Spirit.
- This was an amazing scene of Heaven opening up and the Trinitarian God being present among his people!.

“This is my Son,
whom I love; with
him I am well
pleased.”
Matt. 3:17

KEY THEME:

To understand that God sent the
promised savior from heaven –
His own Son.

THIS WEEK AT HOME:

- Read Psalm 3:1-17
- Jesus didn't need to be baptized, but he did it to 'fulfill all righteousness.' So that he, being fully human could die a substitutionary death.
- The voice that spoke was God the Father, and the dove that came down on Jesus was the Holy Spirit.
- This was an amazing scene of Heaven opening up and the Trinitarian God being present among his people!.

“This is my Son,
whom I love; with
him I am well
pleased.”
Matt. 3:17

KEY THEME:

To understand that God sent the
promised savior from heaven –
His own Son.

THIS WEEK AT HOME:

- Read Psalm 3:1-17
- Jesus didn't need to be baptized, but he did it to 'fulfill all righteousness.' So that he, being fully human could die a substitutionary death.
- The voice that spoke was God the Father, and the dove that came down on Jesus was the Holy Spirit.
- This was an amazing scene of Heaven opening up and the Trinitarian God being present among his people!.